

NURSING PROGRAM GRADUATES ATTRIBUTES

1

The ability to integrate theoretical knowledge and practical skills to improve nursing performance.

2

Using critical thinking to solve health problems by applying evidence-based practices and scientific research to improve the quality of nursing care and raise health awareness for the individual, family, and community.

3

The ability to provide comprehensive nursing care in the light of the society's culture, values, and Islamic morals.

4

The ability to communicate effectively, use leadership skills, and work effectively with the health team and community members.

5

Commitment to the responsibility and ethical rules of the nursing profession during professional practice

6

The ability to self-development and use statistical and information technology skills in the interest of the patient and facilitate administrative processes in various health facilities

